Mazey Recants Clergy Attacks

Apologizes For Blasts At U.S. Churchmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union leader's challenge of the integrity of some clergymen brought an apology from him and assured more questions today from senators checking into the Kohler Co. strike.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, quickly softened the criticism he first directed at Roman Catholic priests in the Sheboygan, Wis., area and extended in lesser degree to Protestant ministers.

Under sharp questioning from the Rackets Committee, Mazey conceded that "use of the word integrity may have been a little bit harsh." But he added that "on matters of basic social questions there's much to be desired in the churches of Sheboygan."

Several hours later he issued a public statement saying "I have not and I do not challenge the integrity of the Sheboygan clergy, and if this inference was left, I apologized."

The churchmen had adopted

Sign of Change In Red Attitude Sought in Note

Washington, Moscow Deadlocked on Terms For Summit Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials search through a new letter from Premier Bulganin today for evidence that the Soviet Union may be prepared to modify its terms for setting up a summit conference.

An earlier exchange of notes published by the State Department showed Washington and Moscow tightly deadlocked.

Officials said that on the basis of this exchange it was extremely difficult to see how any real problems could be solved in a summit meeting.

U.S., Red Notes Published

The new Bulganin message to President Eisenhower, delivered by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, was still to be analyzed when this estimate was made. The initial impression was that it left the basic Soviet position unchanged.

The notes published by the State Department consisted of a memorandum from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and a U.S. reply. In the Gromyko note, the Soviet government agreed to a preparatory foreign ministers' meeting provided it was limited to discussing the time, place and participants of a summit conference and fixing the topics to be discussed there.

The United States reply insisted that the Soviet agreement "falls short" of providing for the careful and detailed preparation necessary before a summit conference can be arranged.

Further, the United States challenged the Soviet government to say now what kind of summit meeting it wants to have — whether the purpose is "merely to stage a spectacle" or whether it is to reach "meaningful decision."

Outlined About 10 Points

The Gromyko note had outlined about 10 points for a summit agenda which could be considered by a foreign ministers' meeting, including such Moscow-sponsored issues as an immediate halt in nuclear weapons tests, a ban on the use of nuclear weapons and the creation of an atom-free zone in central Europe including Western Germany.

But it rejected again, as did previous messages from Moscow, United States proposals for summit consideration of the unification of East and West Germany and political conditions in Communist Eastern Europe.

The Soviet government was told in effect that if it was prepared to agree that "substantive preparatory work must take place," then the United States is prepared to go forward with either a foreign ministers' conference or negotiations through diplomatic channels or both.

Menshikov addressed the National Press Club before receiving the U.S. reply. He expressed confidence that problems in the way of agreeing on a summit conference will be cleared up.

"I can state," he said, "that today the positions of both sides with regard to the convening of the summit conference are closer than before."

Pottery Industry Spokesmen Urge Quotas Be Placed on Ware Imports

The American pottery industry told the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington today that imposition of quotas on imports of foreign ware is the only sure way of safeguarding dinnerware production against growing competition that eventually will mean more closed factories and unemployment.

Strong arguments against a proposed five-year renewal of the Reciprocity Trade Agreements Act—which would allow further tariff reductions of up to 25 per cent—were presented by Joseph M. Wells speaking for the U.S. Pottery Association, and E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Both told the committee Congress should establish definite limits on the amount of foreign-made ware that can be shipped into the U.S. in any year — also making certain that the quotas cannot be changed by action of the President or the State Department.

REGULUS II MODEL ON NEW SUBMARINE — Nose of a full-scale model of the Regulus II missile points skyward as it rests on deck of the diesel-driven guided missile submarine, the Grayback, at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo, Calif. Craft is designed to carry and launch guided missiles and will be equipped to fire the supersonic Regulus II, a surface-to-surface missile already operational with some fleet units.

Nasser Seeking Arab Mastery

Claims Against Saud Signal Start of Fight

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

Gamal Abdel Nasser has opened his battle for complete mastery of the Arab East.

Charges that King Saud of Saudi Arabia plotted against Nasser and his United Arab Republic — and the manner in which the charges were made—indicate there will be no quarter given and none expected in this developing war between two sets of Arab rulers.

The instrument for Nasser's initial attack was Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serdaj, the Syrian army's young, bulky, blue-jawed chief of intelligence, who claims he was offered a huge bribe to see to it that Nasser died in an attack on his plane.

The charges are fantastic. It is asking the outside world to swallow a great deal to suppose that so shrewd a leader as Nasser would attempt to subvert Serdaj, of all people. Serdaj is known throughout the Arab East for his fanatical devotion to Nasser and the extremes of Arab nationalism.

It hardly matters whether a plot existed or not. (Saudi Arabia fast I was completely helpless," Willis P. Hobbs of Vallejo, Calif., a civilian, told a news conference.

The Red agents grabbed the airliner flown by Hobbs and Air Force Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan of Buchanan, Mich., on Feb. 16 and diverted it to North Korea off its regular flight from Pusan to Seoul. The Reds Thursday released the 2 Americans, a West German couple and 22 of the 30 Koreans aboard.

McClellan, in a statement to military investigators, said the plane was on automatic pilot when he heard a loud banging on the door leading from the passenger's compartment.

Then bullets began flying through the cockpit, McClellan said in his statement. Hobbs reported hearing 8 to 10 shots as the two hugged the sides of the plane to get out of the line of fire. "I grabbed the mike, planning to give a 'May Day' (emergency distress call) as the cockpit was literally filled with flying bullets," McClellan said.

Hobbs yelled that the plane was still on automatic pilot so "I leaned across the floor into the path of the flying bullets and turned it off," the officer said.

Then, said Hobbs, three armed Koreans broke into the compartment. One told him, "We go to North Korea."

McClellan said one Korean pulled out the microphone cords. Hobbs said one of the intruders stood behind "with a gun pointed right at my head."

The Koreans looked like they were determined to succeed in taking the plane or die in the attempt, McClellan said.

The agents were uncertain where to land when they were over North Korea. They finally

Okay of Housing Bill Predicted By Sparkman

Sen. Gore Confident Group Will Approve U.S. Road Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic senators pushed ahead today their efforts to develop an anti-recession program including public works, tax cuts, housing and highways.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) predicted the Senate would pass, probably Tuesday, a housing bill he said would produce at least 200,000 more homes this year than under present programs.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said he was confident the Public Works Committee would approve by Thursday his bill to speed up the already large federal highway program.

There also was a good chance of action on two resolutions which Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) introduced. Forty-seven Democrats and six Republicans joined in sponsoring the resolutions, designed to prod the Eisenhower administration into stepped-up spending on military and civil public works projects.

Informed of Balance
Johnson said he had been told that as of Dec. 1, the total unexpended balance for civil and military public works was $5,700,000,000.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said he would offer a proposal to slash personal income and federal excise levies by $4,400,000,000 a year. But tax cutting appeared to have less support at this time than the other measures.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board started a third round of cuts in the discount rate, approving a reduction from 2 1/4 to 2 per cent for its New York, Philadelphia and Chicago banks.

The discount rate is that at which member banks may borrow from the reserve system.

A board spokesman said the reduction was approved "to make credit conditions still more favorable to recovery." The action is expected to bring a further reduction.

Bryan Elected Head of Civic Committee

Joseph Bryan, a Salem merchant, was elevated to the chairmanship of the Salem Civic Committee when election of officers was held during last night's meeting at the Memorial Building.

Mr. Bryan succeeded W. J. Hunston.

Francis "Bud" McNicol was elected vice chairman and Mrs. Robert L. Talbott was re-elected secretary.

The committee went on record to commend the "fine work" which Mr. Hunston carried out during his two consecutive years as chairman.

It was possible for only one of the invited panel members to be present before this representative group which meets once a month to discuss matters of importance to Salem.

Deane Phillips, school accounting officer, led off the general discussion of the question: "If Salem has a youth problem — where is it, what is it, how serious is it, and what can be done about it?"

These questions were discussed only in a general way since statistics were not available which would show Salem's position in relation to youth problems.

Chief of Police George T. Earley, Probation Officer C. V. Csepke and Probate Judge Louis Tobin were unable to attend the meeting. The Civic Committee passed a resolution urging them to attend the group's next meeting.

Utilities to Tell Plans Tuesday

Area Development Council to Meet

"The Utilities Plan for the Future of the Salem Area" will be unfolded at a meeting of the Salem Area Development Council on Tuesday evening at the Memorial Building.

Officials of the Ohio Edison Co., the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Utilities Commission will participate in the program to discuss future plans as they pertain to this district.

"The meeting should be of great interest not only to the steering committee but to the general public," announced W. J. Hunston, Council.

Each utility will be given from 20 to 30 minutes to show by use of maps, graphs, pictures and a talk by the representative of the utility how each one is planning for the future of the five township area surrounding Salem.

The directors of the ADC will make a progress report for the first 9 months of the existence of the group.

"There is no question but that we are prepared for whatever might come to the Salem Area, at least so far as services are concerned," Hunston said.

"Having adequate water, sewer, power, gas and communication facilities is a basic requirement for the future development and growth of any area, and this is certainly

Unmanned Train Plunges Into Harbor

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP) — An apparently unmanned 10-car freight train moved out of a switching yards at nearby Manitowoc early today, roared through this community at speeds up to 60 miles an hour, crashed the iron gates of a coal company and plunged into the local harbor.

The diesel engine and five loaded box cars sank. A sixth box car, filled with empty milk cans, floated. Four other cars remained on the tracks.

The crew of the Chicago & North Western freight said the train started out of the Calumet switching yards at Manitowoc while they were eating. When they returned to the yards, the train was gone.

The train moved on a spur track, picked up speed and passed many grade crossings, including the heavily-traveled Highway 141.

After going through Two Rivers, the train broke through the iron gates of the C. Riess Coal Co. and plunged into the harbor.

Jerome Reuther, who lives about a block away, said he saw the lights of the engine, heard a commotion and called police.

Let's Scrutinize Current Recession

Many Feel Recovery Is Uncle Sam's Problem

By STERLING F. GREEN
(Fifth of Series)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost every recession-troubled state, city and industry is looking hopefully to Washington for the actions and policies — and, chiefly, the spending — that will spark a business recovery.

This is true even in the many states and towns which have lacked their problems with do-it-yourself solutions like local tax cuts, public works and lures for new industry.

Associated Press reporters who visited corporation offices, union headquarters, relief lines, city halls and statehouses in their nationwide "How's Business?" survey heard one theme stressed almost to the point of monotony: "Our recovery depends on the federal government."

Most of the speakers hoped for the arrival of big defense contracts. Many wanted tax reduction and further easing of credit. Mining men called for tariff boosts on foreign metal. Railroads wanted higher freight rates. Washington alone, they all implied, has the final answers.

Some of the comments had political overtones, a majority of these being unfavorable to the Eisenhower administration.

In the proud, Republican, mostly Mormon state of Utah—which is now distributing food to the unemployed for the first time in memory—reporters heard grumbling about "Republican prosperity."

By contrast, some people said they were reassured by the President's recent words and actions, including his record peacetime spending budget. A North Carolina builder observed: "Before, Ike was going to balance the budget at all costs. Now he's committed to deficit spending, and that means inflation and a boom."

There weren't enough politically slanted comments, however, to be taken as evidence that the recession will hurt GOP candidates in the November congressional elections. Most interviewers ignored politics and talked about the immediate problem — finding and creating jobs.

The survey did indicate, however, that pressure is growing in harder hit areas for faster, more positive action than the administration so far has taken.

To date the federal stimulative measure, as listed by President Eisenhower in his recent Christmas economic statement, consist mainly of programs that were in progress or pending before the full impact of recession was felt.

They include the credit loosening steps begun by the Federal Reserve Board last October, the stepped up placement of military contracts, some liberalization of housing credit, a half-billion-dollar increase in civil works, a five-year post office building plan, and more lending to bolster foreign trade.

Without waiting for Uncle Sam, "Operation bootstrap" is being attempted on thousands of local fronts, public and private. These range from the major "crash programs" of public works of Vermont and Pennsylvania to the simple, hopeful device of Chipley, Ga.

Chipley is changing its name to Pine Mountain in hope of luring more tourists. These are some of the statewide efforts:

1. Highway and public construction speedups have been ordered in Missouri, Idaho and elsewhere.

2. Oregon, finding itself with a budget surplus, cut its income tax 20 per cent. Maryland is pondering the removal of some business taxes, but Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin has proposed a 50 per cent increase in income taxes.

3. Special sessions of state legislatures have been considered — but not yet called — in Vermont, Washington and other states to take up tax cuts, bigger unemployment compensation benefits and other remedies.

4. States which have authorized "development corporations," to help new businesses get financing, are using them to intensify the fight on unemployment. These include Arkansas, Vermont, Maine and Minnesota. The Connecticut Development Commission is focusing its efforts on getting the state a bigger share of missile contracts.

Thinking It Over—For Lent

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The rules of life are made by so many different people. Laws forbid our doing a number of things. Social custom requires us to abide by unwritten codes. Books of etiquette tell us certain details of behavior which ought to be followed. Even the frowns of friends alter the rules of life which we follow. We do not pass by these rules, customs, habits or moves without notice.

The rules of life which we learn in our study of the Bible we twist around to suit ourselves. We overlook the 10 Commandments, the Golden Rule and Christ's two great Commandments too frequently.

It would be well if we paid as much attention to God's rules as we do to the man-made rules of society. Remember, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy mind."

New Driving School Regulations Are Effective March 10

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Regulations governing commercial driver training schools in Ohio will become effective March 10.

Gordon B. Jeffery, director of the Department of Highway Safety, said the regulations were drawn up in accord with a law passed by the last session of the General Assembly giving the state the power to license and control such training schools.

The regulations state that schools must provide adequate training equipment, make no guarantees that students will pass the state driving test, have sufficient insurance to protect students and refrain from implying the advertisements that they are approved by the Highway Patrol or the Department of Highway Safety.

The annual license fee is $25 for schools and $5 for instructors.

State Seeks Land For Rt. 45 Project

LISBON — An appropriation suit has been filed in Common Pleas Court to secure land owned by Gordon and Vera Simpson of Leetonia RD 1 for a right-of-way at the southern section of the proposed Rt. 45 improvement between Lisbon and Salem.

The state has offered the Simpsons $2,290 for 1.11 acres of land; $9,622 for their buildings and $530 for damages to the residue, or a total of $12,442.

A check was deposited by the State Highway Department with the clerk of courts. The Simpsons have 60 days to accept or reject the state's offer.

Good Hospital News

Once again Salem's two hospitals, Salem City and the Central Clinic, have been placed on the approved list of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

This is more than a routine procedure and it would be more unusual if the local hospitals were not accredited by the American College of Surgeons, American Medical Association and the other groups which make up the official commission.

But the boards of the local hospitals request annually that the Joint Commission make a survey and inspection of the local facilities and rate the hospitals on such pertinent factors as a safe physical plant free from fire hazards; proper supervision and review by the medical staff of clinical work; maternal, infant and anesthetic death rates that are not excessively high; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissues removed at operations; reasonably low mortality rates, proper nursing care and proper administrative and medical staff organization.

Both the City Hospital and the Central Clinic have maintained high standards over the years, in addition to striving to meet growing patient needs by further expansion of their physical properties.

When hospitals like the Salem institutions voluntarily invite inspection it is an assurance to the people who help to support them and a tribute to the trained personnel which operate them.

SUB Issue Goes Through the Courts

It was the clear understanding of both sides in the SUB suit in Youngstown that whichever side was favored by the court's ruling, the other side would file an appeal.

The intent is to get the issue settled as quickly as possible by the Ohio Supreme Court. The first step was the ruling in Common Pleas Court in Mahoning County on an injunction against continuance of an order issued last July by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that SUB payments must be deducted from unemployment payments.

This ruling has had the effect of putting supplemental unemployment benefits on the shelf in Ohio, though benefits are due to thousands of employees who are idle in plants with SUB agreements in union contracts.

WHAT THE COURTS are called on to decide is the meaning of certain words in Ohio's Unemployment Compensation act, particularly the single word "remuneration."

As defined in the law, "remuneration" means all compensation for personal services, including commissions and bonuses and the cash value of all compensation in any medium other than cash.

The law as administered has been held to include supplemental unemployment benefits as a form of remuneration that must be deducted from unemployment compensation, in the same way that old age benefits, remuneration in lieu of notice and retirement and pension benefits must be deducted.

This is the ruling whose continuation was enjoined in the Mahoning County case.

World's Best Bargain For a Nickel

The Congressional Record, is publishing what is certain to be a wordy debate on a proposal before the Senate for higher postal rates.

The highlight of the debate will be the rates for first-class mail. The Eisenhower administration has recommended a nickel for out-of-town letters, four cents for in-town letters and three cents for printed postal cards.

The world's best bargain for a nickel would be a postage stamp that would carry a sealed letter to any city in the United States and guarantee its delivery to the addressee.

Whether or not a nickel rate would cover actual costs is going to be discussed at length in the Senate debate, but the point is indeterminate.

Furthermore, it does not seem important to people who use first-class mail. They do not think of postage costs as being actual payment for a commercial transaction, like a freight charge.

They think of it as a token payment to help cover the costs of an indispensable service that must be provided. The citizens of the United States never have insisted that the Post Office Department break even. It is the only executive department that is concerned about recovering any part of its operating costs. If a move started to make the Department of Agriculture do the same thing, for example, it would be easier to understand why hair-splitting over Post Office outgo and income is futile.

The Post Office Department needs money for modernization. It needs money for pay adjustments. It should be able to recover more of its costs than it has been recovering from token payments for the services it performs. Its rates should reflect the general rise in all other rates for service.

That is the issue on which any congressional decision will turn — whether or not public postal service will be allowed to collect a larger part of what the traffic is willing to bear.

Once Over

I believe in America, especially in a pinch. I have implicit faith in its guts, foresight, know-how and "know-when." I think too many economists are talking at once that many of them never got a diploma and that some of them have always had to raise mushrooms at home to make a living.

I believe in the factory whistle over the kibitzer's lament and in the American industrial system over the weekly call of the "I Told You So" clubs.

I believe the American performance is more inspiring against adversity than high-wheeling it down the thruway with a honking nonny and a hot cha cha. Uncle Sam stirs me more with his brow wrinkled and his shirtheaves up than when he is doing a rock 'n' roll at a national mardi gras.

I BELIEVE PROPHETS of doom, the forecasters of depression and the boys who read crystal balls through smoked glasses are largely politicians congenial pessimists unreliable quarterbacks, expert vote throwers, puzzled stock salesmen and fellows who toss in a poker hand because they have only three aces.

I believe the American industrial system has more brains, energy, confidence and ability than its critics and kibitzers.

I believe like sick is more trustworthy as a pilot than some people in perfect health.

I believe there is nothing the matter with American business that fewer crying-towels and sharp decline in bellyaching won't cure.

I believe it is beneficial now and then to check a course, adjust a compass and take a look at the ship's rudder.

I believe in the American capacity to get up before an eight-count, swim upstream, dodge a roadblock, get going again after a collision and look any crisis in the face and spit in its eye.

I believe the yolk is still in the American egg despite a crack in the shell.

I believe "Is there a doctor in the house?" from Old Man Economy today is bringing an answer from more qualified and responsible experts and fewer magicians, voodoo doctors and apprentice mathematicians.

I believe America is in greater danger with the gasoline accelerator jammed hard against the floor than with the brake pedal half down.

I believe most everybody saw the "Danger Ahead" sign on the long joy ride and should not be too stunned by the appearance of a downgrade and a curve.

I believe it is time to stop talking about slumps, distributing the blame, predicting the punishment and listening for the echoes of our own voices registering nervousness, fear and lack of optimism.

Sputnik Opens the Door

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Sweet, to those who would have federal control of education, are the uses of the Sputnik. The effort to scatter hundreds of millions over the land, to the needy and unneeded alike, but school construction failed. But those who sponsored that effort were always after more than federal brick and mortar.

The principal component in the collective "those" — the National Education Association, which looks to a control of our thousands of locally operated schools — was always after bigger game than mere inanimate buildings. It would have a federal bureaucracy in Washington tell local boards of education, superintendents, principals and teachers what to teach, to whom, how and when.

The Eisenhower secretary of health, education and welfare and his commissioner of education seem willing to appease the NEA and its allies, the AFL-CIO, the Americans for Democratic Action and others.

THE ALIBI this year — and it is an alibi — is the need for more scientific education. But their proposals go far beyond that need. They go to the very vitals of our teaching, its content, who should study what and when a youngster should be pigeonholed for a specific calling in the life of the nation.

At this point, and for the benefit of those who have written to me, accusing me of opposing the interests of teachers and parents, I wish to recall that I have written articles indicating how some sound and dedicated members of Congress and others would help small revisions of the tax laws, a means wholly free of federal control.

I would be the last to fail to recognize the problems of parents and teachers. I have been and am a parent seeking to give my children a good education. And I have been a teacher for 30 years, beginning in an eight-grade, one-teacher school at $35 a month.

I oppose pressure groups which seek to have basic freedoms and responsibilities taken from parents and teacher by a distant and collectivist bureaucracy, under the flimsy mask of an international scientific marathon.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Marion Folsom substantially admits this. He said to a House committee:

"This is a compelling requirement of national security today the need for action in these fields now is similar to the need for action to provide stimulus to training in trades, industry and agriculture 40 years ago."

If Secretary Folsom had been as close to that development as my own practical experience has made me, he would know the almost ridiculous extremes to which vocational training and its corollaries have grown.

HE WOULD be aware of the snap courses in that field which have aided slow minded athletes to set into and through college.

He would know of university courses in tap dancing, in jazz and music and other items and soft, jumbled offerings in "social studies."

He would know that these slowly crowded out fundamental studies in physics, mathematics and other disciplines which are really the needs of today's world.

When the secretary came into the world one in four graduates of high schools had taken physics. Today the proportion is one in 22.

The bill sponsored by Folsom — a 4-year, 1-billion-dollar affair — is paralleled by a Democratic counterproposal for a 6-year, 3-billion-dollar program of federal aid to education.

The administration bill (H. R. 12078) provides under Title I for matching grants to states having federal approved plans to develop counseling, guidance and testing programs and federal scholarships to outstanding high-school graduates (probably to such graduates as survive the "testing" apparatus).

Title II would provide money for states with federally approved plans for the employment of more science and mathematics teachers, for increasing the salaries of such teachers and for expanding laboratory facilities. These are the major titles in the bill. Note carefully that state plans must toe the federal mark or get no money.

Spur to Recovery

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Tax Revision May Be Answer to Current Recession

The business situation in America has become the most important news story in the world today. It is more important than any summit conference or the launching of satellites.

All Europe is anxiously watching the business trends here. For if America's economic strength is sapped by a deep depression, the Communists would be given an opportunity for victories in many parts of the globe without firing a shot.

Which way will business go? Here are three directions in which the economic curve in America may be charted in the next 12 months:

1. The declines could go deeper. The psychological effect of this might cause a mood of hesitation and reluctance to go ahead even in businesses that are fundamentally sound.

2. There could be an upturn this summer or this autumn. A steady recovery would then ensue throughout next year.

3. There might be a sideways movement as business bumps along the bottom for a while, with no sign as to just when in 1958 the upturn would start.

THE MOST IMPORTANT information that business men are eager to get now is the answer to the question: When will the bottom be reached?

If business men were convinced, for instance, that the bottom already has been reached—as a few observers seem to think—planning could begin now with real confidence. But it takes a little while to determine whether a bottom mark has actually been recorded.

Too often the weekly or monthly figures are changed by statistics the following week or month.

There must be signs of a continuous trend in order to be sure of what is happening.

The February unemployment figures will become available about March 12, but the truly important figures are those for the month of March, which will not be ready for disclosure until the middle of April. If those figures show a decline in unemployment, the news will be heartening to the nation.

UNFORTUNATELY, there has been an overemphasis on unemployment figures as the sole indicator of business conditions.

For the truth is there were only 340,000 less persons at work in January, 1958, than in January, 1957. There were, however, more than 900,000 workers added to the nation's labor force in 1957, and number out of jobs for personal or other reasons, brought the total of unemployed up to 4,500,000 in January.

Savings Vs. Debts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Many Americans are trimming their debts today while others are taking on more.

Many are increasing their savings while others are keeping retail sales levels high.

Many are feeling the pinch of falling incomes while others are enjoying income stabilizers built up under personal protection programs.

This mixed picture of personal fortunes and of how individuals are meeting the recession is found in the national statistics when you balance one against the other.

The Federal Reserve Board, for example, issues statistics on consumer credit, but they break them down into indicators of how people are reacting to the times.

Americans took on three billion dollars of installment credit in January. But that is less than they usually take on in that month. Much of the drop was in auto paper—a statistic that Detroit was already sadly aware of.

In that month Americans repaid 3½ billion dollars of consumer credit. But that is less than they usually do in January. The slow down in collections seems to reflect the shrinkage in many individual incomes. Debt that was contracted in an era of overtime paychecks is coming due in an era of little or no overtime and, for many, shorter work weeks and smaller paychecks.

Total consumer debt (both installment and noninstallment) outstanding at the end of January was 810 million dollars less than at the start of the month. But the total is 44 billion, or nearly three billion dollars more than at the same time in 1957.

Few economists believe this total is dangerous in view of the total assets, income and savings of the American people.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that total payments from private and semipublic programs for the protection of the individual and the family now come to 25½ billion dollars a year. This is nearly nine per cent of the total personal income after taxes of 300½ billion dollars a year.

The largest single source is benefit payments.

In addition to the 25½ billion dollars payments the institute tabulates, individuals have large re-

What can be done to create 900,000 more jobs a year and to absorb more and more workers from the normally unemployed to tal? There is only one answer—incentives to business enterprises. Lots of talk has been heard lately about how the Soviets give incentives and stimulate their scientists by special treatment. But the principle is even more significant in a free economy.

TAX REVISION of the right kind is perhaps the most important stimulus that could be given American business of all kinds. It's the policy that performed a miracle in West Germany, just as the lack of incentives has retarded Britain's post-war recovery.

What ought to be done in America probably will not be done because there isn't as yet a majority in Congress willing to take a long look ahead and plan not just for the few months of 1958 but for several years.

Prosperity — bigger than any the United States has ever experienced — would, for example, follow the passage of a measure like the bill sponsored by Representative Sadlak, (R-Conn. and Rep. Herlong, (D-Fla.)

It would revise the whole income-tax structure, to take effect over a five-year period, so that eventually the country would have a rate schedule ranging from 15 to 42 per cent for individual incomes and an over-all rate of 42 per cent for corporations.

Referring to this bill, the First National City Bank letter, which is noted among businessmen for its down-to-earth analyses of the business situation, says:

"It is doubtful if any action Congress could take would so brighten the economic outlook and revitalize efforts to produce and sell and go ahead."

THIS IS ECHOED by Dr. Charles F. Phillips, an economist, and President of Bates College. He says a plan of this kind would bring in enough revenue to keep the budget balanced.

For, by making the tax rates productive instead of restrictive, America would get more and more tax receipts from business.

The new rates would encourage persons of high income to invest their savings in new enterprises. It would help all companies to build up surpluses so that they would have the money available to modernize plant and equipment.

The best way to get more tax revenues for the federal government is to give business—which has the major task of creating jobs — a tax rate that provides a real incentive to progress and expansion. It is the road to full employment.

This is sound economics, and it could be sound politics, too. But the majority in Congress will hesitate to favor such a plan until it is backed by an overwhelming public opinion.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Never underestimate the power of a WAD in politics. Labor's streamlined strategists are not. For I write of belles, not bills. A WAD in labor's national campaign is a women's activities Director.

A confidential 19-page memorandum of massive political retaliation against labor's opponents reveals that much of the unions' precinct work will be done by women this year. The unpublished report was submitted by COPE—the Committee on Political Education—to the AFL-CIO Executive Council at its mid-winter session last month.

The report reveals plans for a dynamic, imaginative drive in coming months to retire congressmen considered too conservative by leading laborites.

An experimental pilot school for women in politics has been functioning for some time, the document reveals on page 13.

"In Florida, the COPE state, organization established a school attended by 50 women trade unionists and union wives in the state and conducted by COPE representatives. The school was extremely successful and it is expected it will produce tangible results in the 1958 campaign."

Typical of the use to which the Florida WADs will be put is a push for ex-Sen. Claude Pepper—if he decides to run against incumbent Sen. Spessard Holland. The fight will be made in the Democratic primaries and will make national news.

THE COPE REPORT also states that in "virtually every state, officials have undertaken such a program with the help and guidance of the COPE Women's Activities Directors, or are seeking ways of doing so."

Women's divisions are given considerable credit for successful getting union members to register to vote. In turn, these registration drives are credited by the COPE report with election victories. On page 7, the document states:

"Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin feel strongly that their registration drives made their recent electoral success possible; i.e., Sen. Morse and the congressmen in Oregon; Sen. Magnuson and the right-to-work referendum in Washington and Sen. Proxmire in Wisconsin."

It is believed that the WADs, as well as the regular labor machinery, will be used in a dramatic move into the usually conservative suburbs of post-war America.

The report says: "Two special studies are now underway in the national COPE office. One is the continuing inquiry into changes in the voting pattern resulting from the growth of suburbs. The other concerns existing relationships between farm and labor groups throughout the country."

"Preliminary work on the suburban project indicates that the first impact of suburban development is wearing off and that, as mortgages and time payments begin to pinch in a static or declining economy, traditional voting patterns are returning."

"Considering factors leading to the tremendously rapid growth of

Occupational Skin Diseases

It was pointed out at a recent symposium held in Milwaukee that new medical problems — particularly skin problems — are constantly popping up because of changes in industrial methods.

Plastics as a cause of skin difficulty have become more important in the last 15 years. Fiberglass materials also cause skin difficulty.

The increased use of soluble cutting oils used for high-speed tools has increased the risk of contact skin disorders in some industries. There are many others.

Aside from the unpleasantness suffered by someone with an occupational skin disease, it has been estimated that the cost of these diseases in the United States is more than 100 million dollars a year.

THERE ARE believed to be a number of predisposing factors involved in acquiring an occupational skin disease as well as those causes directly responsible.

Any thinning or breaking of the outer layer of the skin, for example, aids the entry of an outside irritant. Pigment of the skin plays a part; those with thin, blond skins appear more susceptible to most irritants than those with dark skin.

Workers with thick, oily skin are better able to resist the irritating effects of some fat solvents, but those with hairy arms and legs are more likely to develop pimple-like lesions from contact with greasy substances.

Perspiration usually offers some protection against skin irritants by diluting them. But excessive perspiration may encourage some forms of skin irritations from solid substances.

AGE IS A FACTOR. Apparently most workers with industrial skin disorders are young and new at the job. Their susceptibility may be because of age, because they have not become hardened to the irritant substances, or are less careful in handling them.

The skins of a woman, because it is drier, is more sensitive to external irritants than that of a man. Occupational skin disorders are more frequent in warm weather, perhaps because less clothing is worn and more bare skin is exposed.

One important predisposing cause of occupational skin disorders is lack of cleanliness. Prompt and efficient removal of irritants of the skin prevents their long action and therefore greatly lessens chance of causing trouble.

Of course, the cleanliness of the shop or working environment is important and periodic cleaning of walls, floors, ceilings, windows, machinery and the like are useful preventive measures.

Most industries have made extensive efforts to lessen the hazard of contact with irritating substances. If complete avoidance is impossible the use of protective clothing or ointments may help.

What Am I?

Dairy Queen Is Not Ice Cream

It is a frozen dessert, lower in calories, but higher in vitamins and minerals.

It is legally termed Ice Milk.

The difference between Dairy Queen and ice cream is mainly the difference in proportion of ingredients — more whole milk solids, and less butterfat in Dairy Queen. Thus, Dairy Queen supplies fewer calories, more milk solid nutrients such as protein, vitamins and minerals than ice cream.

Also, Dairy Queen has less air whipped into it, so a quart of Dairy Queen weighs more than a quart of ice cream.

Dairy Queen is made of: Pure, fresh milk and cream, sugar, stabilizer, emulsifier, and flavorings. It does not contain any vegetable fats.

That's Life at 47

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Recently I received a mysterious anonymous card in the mail.

On the cover it said, "Every year you're getting closer" and when I opened the card it said inside: "To being a dirty old man."

Well, I had to chuckle. After all, a fellow can't very well break down and cry just because it's his 47th birthday.

And to tell the truth I didn't feel much like crying, anyway. A fellow's 40th birthday may be a heart-buster to him but if he has any sense at all, every one after that he hails as a major triumph—a personal victory in the long struggle of man versus microbe.

When you get right down to it, any amateur at living can survive to 40 or even 45. If you can go on after that, it's no longer a matter of mere luck. You're a real pro—you've learned the trick of how to keep breathing regularly.

If life is like climbing a mountain, at 47 you get an unexpected reward. You break through the storm clouds of early middle age, and find yourself on the edge of a sunny upper plateau.

You have become a bit like a tree, which each year has a ring of growth, an interior calendar of its own. With every passing season the old scars inside you lose their power to hurt. You become even proud of some of the scars, and glad they no longer show.

At 47 the big important things loom smaller and the smaller things get more important. You don't expect to solve a major problem every morning. A pleasant meal, an unexpected visit from an old friend, a $5 tax refund by the government—these are enough to make a day memorable.

The devil calls you less, and you wonder about God more. You'd rather dream about your youth than how to make a million dollars.

And at 47 your marriage reaps an unexpected boon. Your wife treats you with a new respect, brings you your slippers when you come home, gets out of your easy chair herself and lets you sit in it.

She is terribly, terribly grateful to you merely because, at 47, you haven't died and left her a widow.

Scout Leaders Hold Monthly Roundtable

Scout leaders from the northern district of Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, met Wednesday night at the steel workers union hall on Prospect St. for their monthly roundtable.

The cub scout session was headed by Mrs. Dick Shoup and Mrs. Denny McLaughlin of Salem. The theme for the month was "Making America Beautiful." Cub scout leaders obtained aids for this theme. They also made Easter crafts and kites.

The boy scout leaders session was headed by Bill Frank of Columbiana. Scout leaders heard a talk by Eugene Seeley, Columbiana Council's camping and activities chairman, on summer camp plans.

Columbiana Council's summer camp, located on Leesville Lake near Carrollton, will open June 29, he said.

Ten members have been added to the camp staff, he said, and the camp will also have a full-time chaplain and nurse this year. Following discussion on the camp, Boy Scout leaders and Explorer leaders made miniature first aid kits. They will instruct their scouts and explorers in this project.

Explorer leaders were led by Aaron Needham of Salem. They discussed plans to see that all boys in the Explorer program in the district are employed in summer jobs.

James Batey, council organization and extension chairman, issued awards earned by scout troops for recruitment of new members. First prize went to Troop 45 of East Palestine; second, to Troop 6 of Salem; and third, Troop 16 of Columbiana.

Robert Beck, southern district scout executive, opened the roundtable by praising the scouters of the northern district for their enthusiasm and progress in the past year. Leonard McDaniel, northern district executive, served as toastmaster of the roundtable and aided in the cub scout and boy scout sessions.

Nasser

rejected the charges.) The point is that Nasser's propaganda machine, now dovetailed with that of the Syrians in the new United Arab Republic, has opened the most dangerous of attacks on its foes in the Arab East — the rulers of Jordan, Iraq and Saudi Arabia. All three stand in the way of Nasser's vaulting ambitions.

The attack is a daring one in a place like the Arab East. Saud is custodian of the two holiest shrines of Islam, Mecca and Medina, and as such has claim to being the spiritual leader of all Arab Moslems.

But Saud resisted Nasser's overtures for a united Arab front. So have Kings Hussein of Jordan and Faisal of Iraq. Now Nasser will attempt to build severe popular pressures under the kings by fanning the glowing embers of Arab nationalism into flaming violence.

Most of the Arab world is now embroiled in the squabble, all the way from Iraq across North Africa to Tunis, where pro-Western President Habib Bourguiba complains that Nasser has been plotting his assassination.

Nasser apparently wants no rivals at all. He tried blandishments, and that didn't work. Now he appears ready to ram his "liberation" down the throats of the other rulers. He cannot do that without invoking violence which would endanger not only Middle East peace, but the peace of the whole world.

tion in bank interest rates, and to make loans easier to get. Gore commented that "this will help, but the person who needs help most does not need credit, he needs a job."

To Make $2 Billion Available
The Sparkman housing bill approved by the Banking Committee would make $1,850,000,000 available for various purposes, chiefly for government buying of home mortgages.

It also would cut down payments on FHA mortgages, extend for two years the veterans' home loan programs, and permit a one quarter per cent increase in the present 4 1/2 per cent interest rate on GI home loans.

Gore's highway bill would provide about 12 1/2 billion dollars in new federal-state financing in the next 13 years. An extra 61,400,000,000 would be made available for all federal aid road programs this year.

Douglas' tax-cutting plan would lower the rate on the first $1,000 of taxable income from 20 to 15 per cent.

U.S. Pilots

asked Hobbs if planes on a field 15 miles north of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, were U.S. Air Force planes. Hobbs said they were Russian.

The agent pointed the gun at his head and said: "If U. S. Air Force—bang!"

The plane's occupants were taken to Pyongyang where Hobbs and McClellan were questioned more than two days. Hobbs said he was asked general questions. But he said McClellan, who was wearing his U. S. Air Force uniform, appeared to have undergone more severe interrogation and seemed "quite shaken up."

"The ordeal was the most trying I have ever undergone in my life," McClellan said.

They were held under house arrest but their armed guards kept out of sight. After the first week the prisoners were taken on guided tours of factories, to Soviet and Korean propaganda movies and to a Chinese concert.

Eleven days after their capture, Hobbs was told his wife, a former resident of Quincy, Ill., had come up to Seoul from their home in Hong Kong.

"Saturday morning they told us the German government had requested our release through Moscow and it would be granted soon."

On Wednesday more than 20 Communist reporters met them at a news conference. Then they were given a three-hour farewell party before boarding a train for Pannunjom.

"That day happened to be my birthday," said Hobbs, almost in tears.

something we all can point to with pride," he concluded.

Scientists said it took a long time to find out what had happened to the satellite because of conflicting reports. They spent more than 24 hours evaluating the information that came back from the rocket.

When the 30-inch satellite and rocket assembly plummeted into the earth's atmosphere again, its speed and the friction of the earth's atmosphere created its own fiery destruction.

Mazey

resolutions accusing Mazey of attempting to intimidate Sheboygan courts through an alleged boycott effort directed at a judge who had sentenced another union official for strike violence.

The union's strike against the Wisconsin's plumbing fixtures firm is now nearly four years old. The Senate committee is seeking to determine the responsibility for various acts of violence.

Mazey's statements capped a day of controversy in the hearing.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said he expected it would take at least a day to wind up the questioning of Mazey, whose statements about the clergy he denounced as "shocking."

The clerical attack on Mazey followed his criticism of a circuit judge who had imposed a one-to-two-year sentence on William Vinson, then chief steward of a Detroit UAW local. Mazey called the sentence harsh, and in a radio broadcast questioned the judge's fitness to serve.

Vinson, who is 6 feet 3, was convicted of assaulting a non-striker, Willard Van Ouwkerk, 53, a short, slim man. Appearing Thursday, Van Ouwkerk said he suffered three or four broken ribs and a punctured lung that led to pneumonia.

Vinson said he was drinking and "lost my temper." He served 13 1/2 months in jail.

"In my opinion," Mazey said, "the Kohler Co. has influence over the clergy, the bar and the Medical Assn. of Sheboygan County." Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.) asked whether Mazey was saying that Catholic priests "are not men of integrity."

"What other conclusion can I make?" Mazey replied.

Later Mazey acknowledged that he also had been denounced by the Sheboygan County Ministerial Assn. for his attacks on the court. Asked whether he questioned the integrity of the Protestant ministers who signed the resolution criticizing him, Mazey told the committee, "Not on spiritual grounds. Not on spiritual grounds." Then he said that he had been "a little bit harsh" in use of the word "integrity."

Boy, 10, Fatally Shot In Home Near Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 10-year-old boy was shot and killed instantly in an uncle's home five miles north of here today.

Ronald Nelson had gone next door to visit an uncle, Joe Kunz Jr., 20, sitting at the breakfast table. Beside Kunz was a pistol he intended taking with him to his job at a filling station.

The boy's uncle then appeared, picked up the gun, and not realizing it was loaded, pulled the trigger.

The bullet struck Ronald in the eye. Dr. D. C. Lavender, Richland County coroner, returned a verdict of accidental shooting.

the demilitarized zone. He returned to his base at Osan.

Martin said he and the other pilot were flying close to their second target but he declined on security grounds to answer questions about altitude, how far he thought they were from the demilitarized zone and what kind of ground fire they encountered.

He said he could not be sure of everything because "things happened so fast in a matter of a few minutes."

South Korean troops man positions in the sector where the incident occurred.

The U. N. Command continued its investigation. A spokesman said the command had no information on the exact position of the two F86 Sabre Jets when the incident occurred. Search planes that flew over the area found no trace of the missing pilot.

The U.N. Command is expected to request his return.

The demilitarized zone is 2 1/2 miles wide. The Communists control the northern half.

hours and collected nearly $33 million in wages, he said. In 1956, sales fell to $45 million, the number of hours worked was cut to 13 million and wages fell to about $26 million, he said.

His figures showed 1957 sales were $42 million, far lower than any other year since 1947.

Wells pointed out that normal employment at his plant, the Homer Laughlin China Co., is about 3,200. But at present the firm has only 1,400 employees and they are working an average of less than 24 hours weekly, he said.

He argued strongly for enactment of the Davis Bill, also known as House Resolution 10818, which would place a quota on foreign ware imports.

Wheatley also appealed for enactment of the Davis Bill or some similar measure imposing quotas.

He also read to the committee two resolutions enacted at the 1957 convention of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

One hit at the State Department's right under the present law to intercede with the President on tariff questions and called for return of Congress of the right to regulate foreign commerce.

The other resolution called for establishment of quotas on imports asserting that "the tariff rates have been reduced under the Trade Agreements program despite our protests and despite the obvious results . . ."

Wheatley pointed out that some low tariff advocates argue that the nation could "try to take care of the displaced employees by putting them on the relief rolls, transferring them to other industries and perhaps even to other localities."

"Totalitarian Principles"

"This smacks of totalitarian principles and I am sure is not acceptable to the people now employed in industries that would be hard hit by imports," he said.

"The people who advocate such a program no doubt hold safe jobs far from the front where the damage would be inflicted. Otherwise they would be singing a different song."

Canton McKinley to Go Against Cuyahoga Falls Tonight

Middies Tangle With Big Blue

Columbiana Faces Boston Twp. Quintet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two teams which have won nine of the last 14 Ohio high school Class A basketball championships meet tonight. One must be sidelined.

The hot-shot teams are defending champion Middletown, seven-time king of the Buckeye basketballers, and Hamilton's Big Blue. The Middies, with a 73-game winning streak, and a current 21-0 mark for the campaign, have defeated Hamilton (18-3) twice this season.

The game is half a twin bill which sends three of the state's "top 10" teams into action in the Cincinnati district meet. Middletown is No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, and Hamilton No. 9.

The other contest offers seventh-ranked Cincinnati St. Xavier, which boasts a 22-game victory string, against Cincinnati Taft (17-5). Winners advance to next week's regional play at Cincinnati.

Middletown and Hamilton have made Butler County the state's basketball capital. Middletown won the title in 1944, 1946, 1947, 1952, 1953, 1956 and 1957. Hamilton was the victor in 1937, 1949 and 1954.

Canton McKinley, which has been in the state title contest five times without grabbing the crown, gets a chance to reach the regionals tonight. The Bulldogs (18-3) tangle with Cuyahoga Falls (14-6) at Kent.

Six Class A quintets also will qualify for regional play in tonight's games.

With the Class AA field of 387 slashed to 40 in Thursday night's frays, a half-dozen former champions and nine of the final poll's top 10 are still in the scrap. The ex-champions are Middletown, Hamilton, Findlay (1948), Newark (1936, 1938 and 1943), Zaneville (1926 and 1955) and Columbus East (1951).

Columbus North and Cincinnati St. Xavier, the only members of the state's Class AA top 10 in action Thursday night, made it through another round.

North, sixth ranked in the final poll, won handily over Columbus St. Charles, 75-57. It was the Polar Bears' 21st victory in as many games this year.

Seventh ranked St. Xavier ran its perfect record to 22 in a row with a 59-48 conquest of Cincinnati Elder in the Queen City.

Chuck Zerger of Tiltonville was the big scorer in Thursday night's contests. He poured 45 points into the hoop in a 75-68 verdict over favored Cadiz at Martins Ferry. The conquest sends Tiltonville (16-5) against Zaneville's third-ranked club, which has a 21-0 record, in Saturday's Eastern District finals.

The Class A field of 646 teams was reduced to 42 in Thursday night's play, and included in the survivors were three former champions. They are second-ranked Miller City (1950), Columbiana (1947) and Arcanum (1956).

Arcanum (20-2) meets Fairlawn (20-5) in Saturday's finals in the Troy district, while Columbiana (15-5) goes tonight against Boston Twp. (20-2) at Canton with a regional berth at stake. Miller City (21-2) meets Ridgeville (21-4) in the semi-finals tonight at defiance.

All district meets will be concluded Saturday night, with 16 Class A and 16 Class AA teams moving on to regional elimination tests. The Class A regionals are scheduled at Canton, Lima, Troy and Athens, and the double-A events at Berea, Kent, Cincinnati, Toledo and Marion.

Only one game will be played at Marion, the winner moving to Toledo to meet the opening game victor there for a east-tournament spot.

Sportsmen Club Wins In Kinsman Tourney

The Sportsmen Club basketball team of Salem, undefeated Class A city champions, advanced into the second round of the Kinsman court tournament Thursday with a convincing 64-47 win over Jerry's Tavern of Mentor-on-the-Lake.

The local team will play again at 7 p.m. Monday.

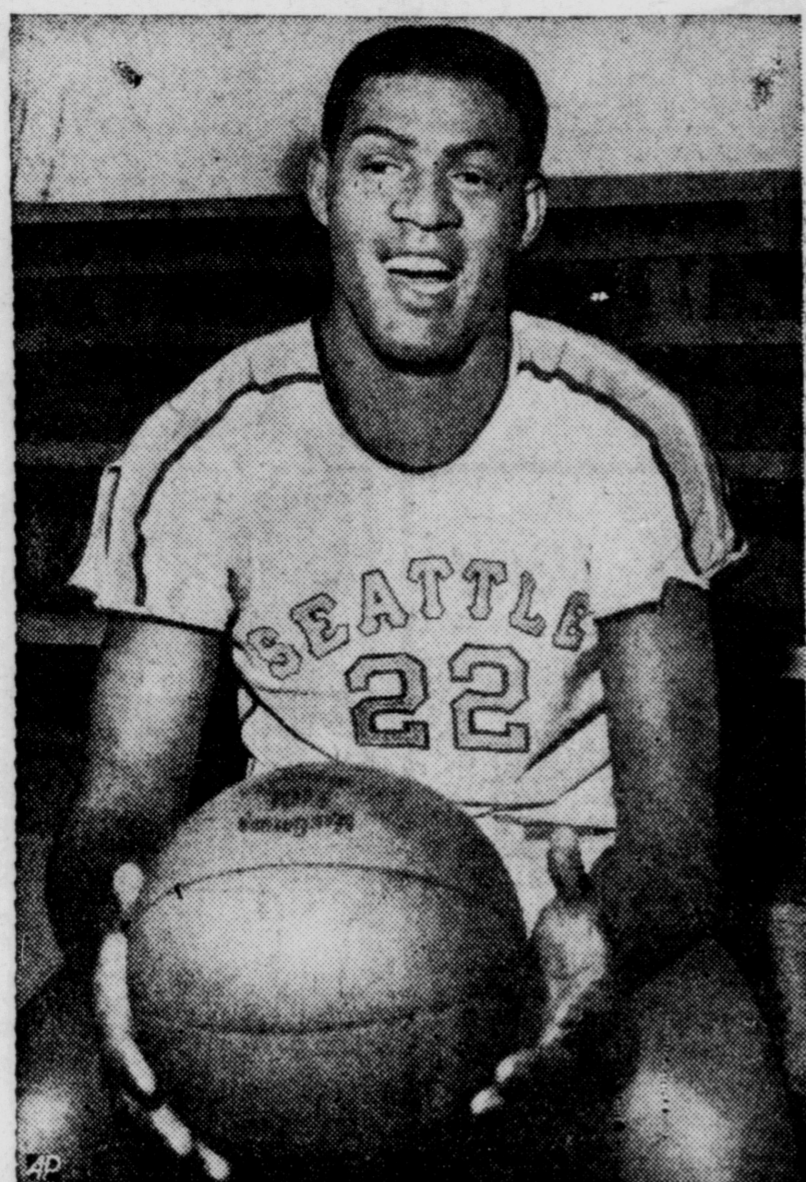

The squad is also entered in the state AAU tournament at Cleveland and will open first round action there tonight against a Tiffin team.

Ed Jordan and Bob Payer were the big guns in the Sportsmen's win over Jerry's. Both boys had 20 points while teammate Pinkerton had 13.

Adams had 13 for the losers. The Sportsmen jumped to a 14-4 first quarter lead and by halftime were ahead 26-14. They led 43-29 after three frames.

ELGIN BAYLOR

Seattle's Opponents Fail To Rattle Baylor

SEATTLE (AP) — Elgin Baylor really is two people.

Off the basketball court, he's a tall, mild-mannered young man, gentle-voiced and amiable.

But when the whistle blows amiability vanishes. And, in the competitive department, so does his voice.

Baylor, the junior wheelhorse of the Seattle University basketball team, rarely complains of being roughed by opponents. In fact, jostling doesn't seem to bother him at all.

Once, while soaring into the air for a driving layup, an enemy guard punched him in the shoulder. It didn't even throw Baylor off line. He sank the basket with such nonchalance that few even saw the foul.

Baylor is 6-foot-6 and weighs 225 pounds. The hefty makes him hard to push around. Opponents try to block him from the basket on rebounds, but he merely goes over them and scoops in the ball.

"I was introduced to basketball when I was 14," says Baylor. "I liked softball and touch football better. But now it's nothing but basketball for me. I hope I can make the grade as a pro."

One of the great worries at Seattle is whether Baylor will return to school for his senior year. He becomes eligible for the pro draft after this season. He says he will "make up my mind in the summer."

Elgin came west out of Springfield High School in Washington, D.C., to enroll at College of Idaho in Caldwell. A coaching shakeup after his freshman year prompted the switch to Seattle. As a sophomore last year he made sufficient impression to earn the No. 6 spot on the All America team.

The things Baylor does on the basketball court are not only fantastic when described, but almost unbelievable when seen. He is a whole basketball player. He can haul in a rebound and lead the fast break down the floor. He scores from the corners, the sides, the top of the key and in a multitude of impossible ways close to the target.

Once he went high in the air for a layup, found himself guarded, whirled the ball entirely around his body and — still off the floor — completed the shot while the befuddled guard was off balance.

"I have been practicing my outside shooting," he says, "but usually I don't concentrate on any one shot in practice. I want to be able to score any time I have a clear glimpse of the goal."

"I never think about scoring during a game. I never know how many points I have until it's over. And I don't worry about it. The idea of this game is to win and when they have me tied up so I can't shoot it means somebody on our team is unguarded."

Baylor seems to hang in the air when he leaps. High above the court he can fake a pass, fake a shot and the ball through the defense to Jerry Frizzell or Charlie Brown, free under the boards for an easy layup.

One coach, proud of his defenses, watched Baylor shred them for 47 points. Asked his opinion of the agile Elgin, he grinned ruefully. "Wasn't that," he replied, "the damndest thing you ever saw?"

Daley Bidding For Job On Tribe Hurling Corps

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Twelve pounds heavier and with a little more zing on his fast ball, southpaw Bud Daley is bidding for a job on the Cleveland pitching corps. Last season he won two and lost eight.

Overshadowed last year by Little All-American Don "Goose" Talbert, guard Harry Baird of Salem stepped into the spotlight by leading the Mount Union College scorers with 312 points for the 1957-58 season.

Tabbed "Bones" by his teammates in view of his slender 5-11 frame, Baird averaged 16.4 points a game in leading Mount to a 13-6 overall record and a 9-4 Ohio Conference mark to stand fourth in the loop.

Last year he averaged 13.6 points a contest with a total of 339 markers — but trailed Talbert, who meshed 441 points.

Baird, a strong All-Conference and All-Ohio possibility, is classified as a first semester junior since he joined the Raiders midway through the 1955-56 campaign, playing in eight games and collecting 45 points.

An All-Ohio choice, Baird was a member of a squad captained by Jack Gottschling of Salem in his junior year — a feat duplicated this season at Mount Union.

Deadly on a jump shot, Baird is within striking distance of a remarkable accomplishment. He has a season and a half of eligibility left in which to add to his 696 points, which could make him the second performer in Mount's history to pass the 1,000 mark. Only Talbert has surpassed it.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Two of the three teams the Salem Quakers played this year in tournament competition they had faced previously during the regular season. These squads were Girard and Youngstown South.

Salem met Girard in a regular season fray on a Tuesday, then confronted the Indians in tournament play the following Friday.

The first game with South was played Jan. 28 and the second clash March 1.

THE SIGNIFICANT thing about the second South fray was that Salem had to play a tournament game on its opponent's home floor.

In fact, it was the second year in a row that the Quakers faced such an arrangement, having played Canton McKinley in tournament competition on the Bulldogs' home floor the previous season.

South not only played Salem in a tourney game on the South floor, but Warren Harding and Austintown Fitch as well.

Canton McKinley, Alliance and Stuthers were other area quintets which played tournament games on their own floors. Such setups should not be permitted to continue.

Who could ask for a better arrangement than to battle toward the state title within the confines of your own well-known backyard?

SEVERAL OTHER questions arise when it comes to discussing Ohio's state-wide tournament system. Why didn't South play at Struthers and Struthers at Youngstown? Why didn't Salem play its tournament games in Alliance which is half the distance to the South Fieldhouse?

Why didn't tournament directors hire out of town officials to completely obliterate any suspicion of favoritism? The Quakers lost fairly to South, it is true, but they were up against two psychological barriers in having to play South on the Warriors' floor with Youngstowners officiating.

Middletown plays Hamilton in Cincinnati Saturday night in the finals of the Cincinnati district tourney. The Middies have already beaten Hamilton twice this season but if they are upset tomorrow they're "out of it" for 1958.

Cleveland East Tech has beaten Cleveland St. Ignatius twice this season also. The two teams will undoubtedly meet the third time in the Berea regionals. The winner of the regional game moves on to Columbus.

A HIGH SCHOOL team might go 18-0 in the regular season but if it loses an early tournament game, there are always some fans who will yell "get rid of the coach" or "we had a bad year."

Records set during regular season play cannot always be used as criteria in the tournaments.

In 1957, Middletown won the Class AA state title with a 27-0 record. In 1936, Newark captured the "AA" crown with a 16-10 showing.

Springfield won the laurels in 1930 with 19-7, while champion Dayton Stivers was 21-6 in 1928. Middletown was 19-6 in 1947.

Which is better? To have all the 387 Class AA teams start from scratch as they do now or to install a system whereby a team is required to be a champion in its own right during the regular season to even be eligible for state wide firings.

Pennsylvania is divided into 10 districts. Each has a numerical designation with the Pittsburgh area being District 7. This district is known as WPIAL or the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League.

THE WPIAL is divided into 14 Class A sections and 12 Class B sections. Pennsylvania's A teams are comparable to Ohio's AA squads.

Each section or league is composed of anywhere from four to 10 teams. During the regular season each section squad plays a home and home series with each of the other teams in its section.

For example, a squad in an eight team section plays a total of what is known as 14 "league" games. The team that emerges with the best record in its section is the one that becomes eligible for tournament play.

FARRELL SHARON and Ambridge, Pa., are in Section 3. The Bridgers' game with Salem in January had no bearing on their standing in that section.

All squads supplement their league schedule with seven or eight "exhibition" games against non-league foes.

At the conclusion of regular season play in WPIAL, 14 Class A section winners enter tournament play to represent District 7 in the state wide competition.

An opening round game might include Sharon (Section 3 champ this year) against Midland (Section 8 winner). Each of the two teams is a champion in its own right, having emerged as the top squad in their sections during the regular season.

All WPIAL tournament games are played in Pitt Stadium, with but few exceptions. When an added game must be played, it is staged on a neutral court.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP game in Pennsylvania is played in Philadelphia. Philadelphia high schools are ineligible for the state high school crown.

Even tough Wilt Chamberlain, now an All-American at Kansas U., and his Overbrook High School team were supreme in Philadelphia, they never won the Pennsylvania state crown.

Emphasis on winning regular season games and tournament tilts is naturally the same in both Ohio and the Keystone State. However, the Pennsylvania system appears to be the best.

Even though an Ohio team loses 18 season games, it can be state champs.

A Pennsylvania team that loses 18 games in the regular season not only would be out of the running at tournament time but also would be buried in the cellar of its section.

2 Teams Scheduled To Clash Again Tonight

Sekely Industrial defeated Herron Transfer 60-49 Thursday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best of three playoff for the Class B city league title.

Akron Takes First NCAA Start 76-61

By The Associated Press

Wheaton, a giant among the little guys in basketball, opens defense of its NCAA small college championship tonight in the Great Lakes regional at Ann Arbor, Ill.

Wheaton, loser of only two games in the last two years, plays St. Norbert of Wisconsin in the feature of a far-flung regional program involving 30 of their 32 entered teams.

The Midwest regional at Evansville, Ind., got a 24-hour jump on the others Thursday night. Home-town Evansville College nipped Wabash (Ind.) 70-68 in overtime and Akron downed Austin Peay 76-61 in first round games.

Tonight Akron and Evansville play for the Midwest title while first round play begins at the seven other regional stops—at Aurora, Waltham, Mass.; Staten Island, N.Y.; Grambling, La.; Vermillion, S.D.; Springfield, Mo., and Santa Ana, Calif.

The eight regional champs wind up at Evansville for the last three rounds March 12-13-14.

Wheaton, 24-1 for the season, meets a 15-9 St. Norbert club at Aurora while in the other half of the doubleheader, Hope of Michigan (18-2) faces Northern Illinois (9-11).

Ike Chestnut, Gomes To Meet in 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—It was only a couple of years ago when Ike Chestnut was a hungry, eager fighter hollering for the big break.

Tonight in Madison Square Garden it will be the other way around for the 26-year-old Chestnut, now the fourth-ranking featherweight contender. He meets Harold Gomes, a 24-year-old puncher from Providence, R.I., in the televised (NBC, 10 p.m., EST) 10-rounder.

Although Gomes is not a ranking fighter, Chestnut is only an 11-10 favorite. Gomes has had several TV shots before but this is his first crack at a ranking fighter. He hopes to make the most of the opportunity.

'Reds Better Balanced Club,' Says Manager Birdie Tebbetts

TAMPA, (AP)—"I guess the best way to say it, is that we've got a better balanced ball club," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs. "We've got pitching, power and speed."

Birdie, who almost won a pennant with power alone in 1956, then found his Redlegs down to fourth, 15 games behind champion Milwaukee, last season explained: "We know you can't win with pitching alone, or with power alone."

"So this past winter we graded some of our power and got some pitching help and some speed. Now, I think, we have the right combination."

"Right now, I'm considering only Haddix (southpaw Harvey Haddix) and Lawrence (Right-hander Brooks Lawrence) as starting pitchers. They are the only two I've made up my mind on. We'll wait and see about the rest."

The Reds got Haddix from Philadelphia in exchange for outfielder Wally Post in a five-day December campaign that netted six pitchers, including Bill Wright from Baltimore and Bob Purkey from Pittsburgh.

That Christmas shopping also brought the Redlegs first baseman Wally Fondy from the Pirates in exchange for slugger, but ailing, Ed Kluszewski.

"We're set at catching with Ed Bailey and Smoky Burgess and maybe Dutch Dotterer (.303 and 79 RBI at Nashville)," said Tebbetts.

"And we're set at first with George Crowe, Fondy and Steve Bilko (purchased for a ton of gold from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League). We're set in the rest of the infield, Don Hoak at third, Roy McMillan at short and Johnny Temple at second."

"In the outfield I start with Frank Robinson and Gus Bell. That leaves me a hole out there. But I can use either one in center or shift them to either side. May-

Stuebenville's Smith

Named to East Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Steubenville (Ohio) College, which had hopes of getting into the National Invitational (basketball) Tournament, will have to be content with one member of the team going to New York.

Jim Smith, 6-foot-6 Baron star who averaged 20.9 points and 23.5 rebounds, was named Thursday to the East team for the East-West clash March 29.

Steubenville declined an NAIA bid to keep the door open for a possible invitation from the NIT. NIT officials, however, passed up the school. Steubenville had a 24-1 record.

Village Clerk, Mike Burick, received a letter from the County Election Board of East Liverpool stating that the Primary Election for State, County and District offices will be held May 6 at the following precincts. Precinct A: Rohrer Building, Main St.; Precinct B: Village Hall; Precinct C: Methodist Church and Precinct D: Lutheran Church.

Lt. James C. Rogers, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith, was co-pilot on a crippled Air Force C97 Stratocruiser which landed recently at Yokota Air Base in Japan.

The plane, which lost one of its four wheels on takeoff from a Tokyo Airport, 35 miles away, circled the field six and one-half hours using up its fuel. It was also necessary to dispose of its cargo in preparation for a crash landing. The landing was made without a n.d. damage to the plane or the crew. Rogers is married to the former Joanna Smith.

'Missing Cash Mystery,' Asserts Ex-Treasurer

BRYAN, Ohio (U)—The trial of Garland A. Beck, former Williams County treasurer charged with embezzling $5,337 from office funds and falsifying reports, is expected to go to the jury today.

The 56-year-old Beck, who resigned Sept. 25 after the short ages were discovered, testified Thursday that he has no knowledge where the missing money went. He said he knew nothing about any shortage until a state examiner discovered it two days before he resigned.

Judge Harvey E. Hyman has dismissed 14 counts involving larceny against Beck, but he overruled a defense motion to dismiss the remaining 22 counts included in two indictments.

Two weeks ago, Beck was found innocent of taking the $1,656 missing from the sales tax funds in the treasurer's office.

Minor Mishap Leads To Electric Chair

TOLEDO, Ohio (U)—A shooting following a minor automobile accident last November led to 54-year-old Benny Collins' conviction on a first degree murder charge.

A three-judge panel convicted Collins Thursday of the pistol-slashing of Ronald Hattery, 25. Hattery was killed after an argument over the accident. The judges did not recommend mercy, which means Collins will be sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Area Woman Awarded $500 for Car Injuries

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury Thursday afternoon awarded $500 to an East Liverpool area woman who had filed a personal injury suit as the aftermath of an auto accident Dec. 18, 1955.

Josephine Bergener of East Liverpool RD was awarded this amount by a jury which deliberated almost one hour. She had asked $20,000 from John M. Watson of East Liverpool RD 2.

She claimed her auto was struck from the rear by the defendant's car on Rt. 170, near Calcutta, causing a whip-lash injury to her neck.

Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard presided over the civil trial which started Wednesday morning. The jury included Edna Marrow, Helen Vishak and Marie Tucker of East Liverpool; Okey Hudson and Frances Dornick of Wellsville; Carl Welch of Salineville; Dorothy Holzworth, Evelyn Houser, and Ruth Grisez of Salem; Mildred Reed and Lucille Kell of East Palestine; and Charles Campbell of Minerva.

2 Girls Seek $20,000 For Traffic Injuries

LISBON — Suits asking total damages of $20,000 were filed in Common Pleas Court by two New Middletown girls Thursday as the aftermath of a traffic accident on May 4, 1957.

Kay Ann Beight asks $8,000 and Gaylene Jones seeks $12,000. Arthur W. Keifer of New Castle, Pa., is the defendant in both suits.

Both girls claim they were passengers in a car driven on Rt. 14 at its junction with Rt. 170, by Patricia Beight when the defendant's car, driven south on Rt. 170, failed to stop at the stop sign and crashed into the auto the plaintiffs were riding in, injuring them.

The IBOP said the film is part of an educational program approved at the international convention in 1957. It is designed for showing to local unions throughout the nation. The movie explains grievance procedure and collective bargaining principles.
